ANOTHER LETTER FROM BILL ARP.

"Bill Arp," who lately made a very happy hit, in a letter to Artemus Ward, has written the following in the same strain on the state of the country:

From the Rome Courier.

BILL ARP ON THE STATE OF THE COUNTRY.

"Sweet land of Liberty, of thee I sing"

Not much I don't, not at this time. If there's anything sweet about liberty in this part of the vineyard, I can't see it. The land's good enuf and I would'nt mind hearin a kyme or two about the dirt I live on, but as for findin sugar and liberty in Georgy soil, its all a mistake. Howsumever, I'm hopeful. I'm much calmer and sereener than I was a few months ago. I begin to feel kindly towards all people, except some. I'm now endeaverin to be a great national man. I've taken up a mottoe of no North, no South, no East, no West; but let me tell you, my friend, I'll bet on Dixie as long as I've got a dollar. It's no use to read both skedules. In fakt its highly unharmonious to do so. I'm a good Union man, and my battle cry are Dixie and the Union.

But you see, my friend, we are gettin restless about some things. The war had been kinder heavy on us, and after the big collapse, we thought it was over for good. We had killed folks and killed folks until the novelty of the thing had wore off, and we were nigh played out all over. Children were increasin and vittels diminishin. By a close calculashun it was purseeved that we did'nt kill our enemies as fast as they was increased, and about those times I thought it was a pity that some mirakle of grace didn't cut off the breed of furriners some 10 or 20 years ago. Then you would have seed a fair fight. General Sherman would'nt have walked over the track, and Ulyses would have killed more men than he did—of his own side. I have always thot' that a General ought to be particular which side he was sacrifisin.

Well, if the war is over, what's the use of fillin up our towns and cities with soldiers any longer. Where's your reconstruktion that the papers say is goin on so rapidly? Where's the liberty and freedom? The fakt is, general Sherman and his caterpillers made such a clean sweep of everything, I don't see much to rekonstrukt. They took so many liberties around here that there's nary liberty left. I could have rekonstrukted a thousand sich States before this. Any body could. There was'nt nuthin to do but jest to go off and let us alone. We've got plenty of Statesmen—plenty of men for Governor.

Joe Brown aint dead—he's a-waitin—standin at the door with his hat off—for what good are they doin—who wants to see 'em any longer. Everybody is tired of the war and we dont want to see any more signs of it. The niggers dont want 'em, and the white men don't want 'em, and as for the wimen—whoope! I golly! Well, there's no use talking—when the stars fall agin maybe the wimen will be harmonized. That male business—that oath about gittin letters! Gee-tiger!—They always was jealous about the males anyhow, and that order jest broke the camel's back. Well, I must confess that it was a powerful small concern. I would try to sorter smooth it over if I knowed what to say, but I don't. If they was afreed of the wimen why didn't they say so. If they wa'n't what do they make 'em swear for? Jest to aggravate 'em? Didn't they know that the best way to harmonize a man, was to harmonize his wife fust? What harm can the wimen do by receivin their letters oath free? They can't vote, nor they can't preach, nor hold offis, nor play soldier, nor muster, nor wear breeches, nor ride straddle, nor chaw tobacker, nor do nuthin hardly but talk and rite letters. I hearn that a valiant kernel made a wimen put up her fan because it had a pikter of Borygard 'pon it. Well, she's harmonized, I reckon. Now the trouble of all sich is that after these bayonets leave here and go home, these petticoat tyrants can't come back any more. Some Georgy fool will mash the juice out of 'em sertin, and that wouldn't be neither harmonious or healthy. Better let the wimen alone.

Then there is another thing I'm waitin for. Why don't they rekonstrukt the niggers if they a-re ever goin to? They've give 'em a powerful site of freedom, and very little else. Here's the big freedmen's buro, and the little buros all over the country, and the papers are full of grand orders and special orders, and paragrafs, but I'll bet a possum some of 'em steals my wood this winter or freezes to death. Freedman's buro! freedman's humbug I say. Jest when the corn needed plowin the worst, the buro rung the bell and tolled all the niggers to town, and the farmers lost the crop, and now the freedman is gettin cold and hungry, and wants to go back, and there aint nuthin for 'em to go to. But freedom is a big thing. Hurra for freedom's buro! Sweet land of liberty, of thee I don't sing! But it's all right. I'm for freedom myself. Nobody wants any more slavery. If the abollishunists had let us alone we would have fixed it up right a long time ago, and we can fix it up now. The buro aint fixed it, and aint a goin to. It don't know anything about it. Our people have got a heap more feelin for the poor nigger than any abulishinist. We are as poor as Job, but I'll bet a dollar we can raise more money in Rome to build a nigger church than they did in Bostown. The papers say that after goin round for 3 weeks, the Bostown christians raised thirty seven dollars to build a nigger church in Savannah. They are powarful on theory but mighty scace on practice.

But its no use talkin. Everybody will know by waitin who's been fooled. Mr. Johnson says he's gwine to experiment, that's all that he can do now—its all anybody can do. Mr. Johnson's head's level. I'm for him, and every body ought to be for him—only he's powerful slow about some things. I ain't a worshippin him. He never made me. I hear folks hollerin hurraw for Andy Johnson, and the papers say, oh! he's for us, he's all right, he's our friend. Well, spose he is, hadn't he ought to be? Did you expekt him to be a dog. Bekause he ain't a hangin of us, is it necessary to be playin hipocrit around the footstool of power, and makin out like he was the greatest man in the world, and we was the greatest sinners? Who's sorry? Who's repentin? Who ain't proud of our people? Who loves our enemies? Nobody but a darned sneak. I say let 'em hang and be hanged to 'em, before I'd beg 'em for grace. Wha's Sokrates, whar's Cato? But if Andy holds his own, the country's safe, provided these general assemblys and meetings and Bushwhacker conventions will keep the devil and Brownlow tied. Here's a passel of slinkhearted fellers who played tory jest to dodge bullitts or save property, and howlin about for offis—want everything because they are for what they was for, and they ain't a go-to-meetin off. By hokey, we'll give two of 'em for one copperhead, and ax nothin to boot. Let 'em skinny on their own side, and git over among the fots who don't want us reconstrukted. There's them newspaper scribblers who slip down to the edge of Dixey every 24 hours, and peep over at us on tip toe. Then they run back a puffin and blowing with a stright coat tail, and holler out, "He ain't ded—he ain't dead—look out everybody.—I'm jest from thar—seed his toe move—heard him grunt; he's goin to rise agin. Don't withdraw the troops, but send down more troops immegeately." And here's your Harper's Weekly a headin all such—a passle lies and slanders in every issue—makin insurrekshun goters in every sheet—breedin everlastin discord and chawin bigger than ever since we got licked. Wish old Stonewall had cotch these Harpers at their Ferry, and we boys had knowd they was gwine to keep up this devilment so long. We'd a made bapkins of them sertain, payroll or no payroll. Hurraw for a brave soldier, I say, reb or no reb, yank or no yank; hurraw for a manly foe and a generous victor—hurraw for our side too, I golly, excuse me, but sish expressions will work their way out sometime, brakes or no brakes.

But I'm for Mr. Johnson. I'm for all the Johnsons—its a bully name. There's our Governor, who aint pin at a discount; and there Andy, who is doin powerful well considering, and there's the hero of Shiloh—peace to his noble ashes.

And there's Joe—my bully Joe—wouldn't I walk ten miles on a rainy night to see them hazel eyes, and feel the grip of his soldier hand. Didn't my heart always clap his wings and crow whenever he passed our quarters? "Instinct told him that he was the true prince," and it would make any body brave to be nigh him. I like all the Johnsons except one—L. O. He never levied on me if he could get around it. For tweny years me and Sam have been workin together in the justice court. I was an everlastin defendant, and Sam the Constable, but he never sold my property nor skeered Mrs. Arp. Hurrew for the Johnsons!

Well, on the whole, there's a heap of things to be thankful for. I'm thankful the war is over—that's the big thing. Then I'm thankful I ain't a black republican. I'm thankful that Thad Stevens and Sumner and Phillips, nor none of their kin ain't no kin to me. I'm thankful for the high privilege of hatin all such. I'm thankful I live in Dixey in the State of Georgy; and our Governor's name ain't Brownlow. Poor Tennessee! I golly, didn't she catch it. Andy Johnson's pardon's won't do reb's much good there. They better git one from the devil if they ex ekt it to pass. Wonder what ade Providence afflikt 'em with such a cuss.

But I can't dwell on sich a subjekt. Its highly demoralizin and unprofitable.

"Sweet land of Liberty, of thee,"
I could not sing in Tennessee.

But then we've had a circus once more, and seen the clown play round, and that makes up for a heap of trouble. In fact, its the best singn of rekonstruction I have yet observed.

Yourn, hopin,

BILL ARP.

P S.—And they hawled Grant's cabin a thousand miles. Well! Sherman's war horse stayed in my stable one night. I want to sell the stall to some Yankee State fair. As our people ain't the sort that runs after big folk's things, the stall ain't no more than any other stall to me. State Fairs, its for sale. I suppose that Harpers Weekly or Frank Lesly will paint a pikter of it soon, by drawin on their imagination. B. A.

A Tragic Wedding.

The town of Kaschus, in Hungary, has just been the scene of a tragic event. A gentleman of the environs was to be married to a young lady of the town, and on the day fixed for the wedding the bridegroom and his friends went in procession to Kaschus, preceded by a band of music, and firing rifles as they pass d along. During the repast, which was served after the ceremony, one of the guest jested with the bridegroom on the sudden disappearance of the bride, who had gone to her mother in the kitchen. The husband went to find his wife, and, seeing her in the midst of a group of women, requested her to return to the dining room. She playfully refused, and ran away, laughing as she went. Her young husband then took up a rifle, and, aiming at her, cried, "Come here, Irma, or I will fire!" The bride laughed, and replied "Fire, if you like!" The rifle went off that instant, and the poor girl fell mortally wounded. She died three hours later, after assuring her unhappy husband that she felt certain he did not know the rifle was loaded.

The recent subsidence of the waters of the Seine, France, has revealed a number of curiosities lying in its muddy bed. Among other things, a double faced seal, engraved with the arms of Catherine de Medicis, was picked up beneath the Pont Neuf. There was found a large number of black polished stone, of a singular make. The most curious discovery was, however, a small copper case, containing a portrait Mdlle. de la Valliere, painted in oil on metal. This work of art, which had remained for a century and a half at the bottom of the river, has undergone but little alteration—the carmine only had turned black.

AGENTS WANTED.

We wish to establish agents in all the counties of this State as well as in all the principal towns and cities both North and South, for the purpose of procuring subscribers to the Daily and Weekly Banner—also, to obtain advertisements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1865.

To His Excellency W. W. Holden:

The President directs me to say that he expects you to continue in the exercise of the functions of Provisional Governor of North Carolina until you shall have been relieved by directions from him.

(Signed) WM. H. SEWARD.

It will be seen from the above dispatch that our worst forebodings are being fulfilled.

The late election is ignored at Washington so far at least as the office of Governor is concerned.

We saw the breakers and warned the people from the mast-head. We always believed that we were permitted to vote so that we might show our hand. What is the cause of this telegram? Gen. Humphreys was elected by the old secessionists in Mississippi—Mr. Orr came very near being elected by the same men in South Carolina and in a State considered pre-eminently loyal, Mr. Worth is elected by the very same men. In saying this we say that, we know and speak from the record. Gov. Holden carries the true blue counties of Wake and Johnston by overwhelming majorities, and even defeats Mr. Worth in the latter's own county (Randolph,) whereas Worth sweeps every secession strong-hold by in some instances an almost unanimous vote. Look at the table.

	WORTH.	HOLDEN.
Mecklenburg,	534	353
Warren,	525	46
Anson,	630	70
Edgecombe,	426	55
Wayne,	632	96
Duplin,	462	161
	3,209	781

This is exclusive of the vote of New Hanover which we learn was nearly unanimous for Mr. Worth.

Could it not have been fairly inferred at Washington that Gov. Holden was defeated by those who were first and foremost in the secession party? The test has been applied—an opportunity was offered us and we have thrown away the chance. Our people have our sympathy under all circumstances—we shall strive in the future as in the past for their best interests—but dark clouds lower over us. God grant that they may be dispelled but we fear that our path is a dark and difficult one—but while we feel a sadness inexpressible let us ever now resolve to do that which befits us viewed in the light of reason—let us persevere even unto the end.

RICH.

Our cotemporary of the Progress says, that moral worth is not appreciated by the people, because he was defeated for the Convention and Mr. Moore for the Legislature.

Pennington very often indulges in humorous irony, but this is the modest specimen we have seen. We would suggest that perhaps the reasen why he was not elected, is, that he hid his light under a bushel and the people could not "see it," for it is well known that he is as modest as he is worthy. There is one thing, however, that they should appreciate, and that is, that the Progress is the best paper for news in the State, and is edited with much ability and an adroitness of which even Bennett might a proud.

The New York Election.

Referring to the result of the election in New York the Times says:

In their defeat the Democrats have the consolation of knowing that President Johnson and his policy have received the hearty and emphatic indorsement of the people of this State. The Union party has not been driven a hair's breadth from its position. Neither the clamorous claims, the flagrant misrepresentations, nor the arrogant menaces of opponents have shaken its purpose or cooled its ardor in the least degree. It resolved in State Convention to support the President and his policy of reconstruction; and upon that platform it has carried the State by a majority three times as large as was given for Lincoln and Johnson in the Presidential election a year ago. If the Democrats were sincere in their profession they have no reason to regret this result. It will give fresh and powerful support to the policy they profess to admire. It will strengthen the President in his position and give him renewed assurance of popular support, in the great work he has so auspiciously begun.

We trust the Democrats will not withdraw the support they have pledged the President on account of the defeat they have suffered. The defeat implies no hostility to the principles they have proclaimed, but only distrust of their professions. Let them vindicate themselves against the distrust. They have now a splendid opportunity to prove that they were thoroughly in earnest Adversity alone tries the good faith of parties as well as individuals. If they had been triumphant, their motives would always have been open to suspicion, for men are never charitable in judging of professed conversions accompanied by great rewards. If they adhere to the President now, in the face of defeat, they will silence calumny and compel the confidence and admiration of an incredulous world. Nous aerrons!

The World, a leading organ of the Democracy, of the 8th, thus comments on the election:

"The result of yesterday's election is shown, even by the partial returns received up to the hour of going to press, to have been a republican victory. We have no desire to count our wounds, nor to conceal them. They are the witnesses of a manly struggle, against odds. Nor would we conceal their disastrous consequences—not so much to the party, which will outlive and outlast and bring to the dust these victors of to-day, and whose principles being true are imperishable; but, in the defeat of the Democratic party, President Johnson's plan for the immediate restoration of the Union is defeated also. The tide of fanaticism which has swept over the nation, engulphing its laws, its liberties, and its material prosperity, though visibly abating, has not yet reached its ebb. Every hour it falls, and the time cannot be far distant when the people of the North, so long led through deep waters by blind guides, will search for dry land and other leaders. That day will see the triumph of Democratic principles and of those who have faithfully upheld them.

In the election just closed, the Democratic party has been faithful to its time-honored principles. It has sought nothing less than the good of the whole country. It did not hesitate to indorse this measures of an administration whose election it had opposed, for those measures were well adopted to the end which it never lost sight of through four years of war—restoration of the Union and its laws, of peace, of our civil liberties, of of local self-government, and of fraternal good-will between all sections of our common country. And to-day the chief regret of every intelligent Democrat will be, not that a local election has been lost, but that Mr. Johnson's political measures for the early restoration of the Southern States to their co-equal and normal relations in the Union, which was the chief and almost the only national issue at stake in the late canvass, have not received the weighty indorsement of the Empire State.

There is not a word of truth in the canard going the rounds that President Johnson is about to reorganize his Cabinet. He will no doubt hold on to his present advisers to the end of his term of office.

Mysterious Explosion at a New York Hotel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—At half-past 11 o'clock this morning an explosion of a mysterious box in front of the Wyoming Hotel 333 Greenwich street, took place; shattering the front of the hotel and breaking nearly all the glass in the building opposite and along the square where the hotel is situated. Two men were killed, and nine persons wounded. A short time ago, it appears, a guest of the hotel left this box, as security for his bill, and promised to call soon and redeem it. The box was placed in the baggage room, in charge of the porter, and this morning smoke was seen issuing from the box, when it was taken by two men and carried to the sidewalk. Just as they reached the edge of the pavement the explosion occurred, killing the men carrying the box, and doing much damage, as above mentioned. The police have arrested all the persons stopping at the hotel, and the matter is now under investigation. The explosion was very loud, and attracted the attention of persons a mile distant from the locality.

The Cuban Slave Trade.—Intelligence from the city of Havana shows that a cargo of eight hundred Africans was recently landed in the harbor of San Christoba'. There was a pretence of seizure by the Government officials, but only one hundred and forty-seven of the whole number were really rescued. The others were run off and sold. The traffic is carried on through the connivance of some of the authorities, who share the profits with the slave traders. The men who "back" the trade are among the millionaires of the island. The present Captain-General is to be removed on the 15th of this month, partly, it is said, on account of his being compromised in the slave trade.

ELECTION RETURNS.

The vote for Congress in this District is as follows:

	Walkup.	Ramsay.	Sloa
Mecklenburg,	702	118	123
Iredell,	372	479	70
Lincoln,	323	113	89
Gaston,	127	68	400

Cabarrus,	349	90	47
Davie,	69	355	4
Catawba,	604	298	8
	2715	2210	809

Union, Wilkes, Alexander and Yadkin, to hear from.

Lewis Hanes, is elected in the fifth district over Bedford Brown.

In Mecklenburg County, Jos. H. Wilson was elected Senator, and J. M. Hutchison and Robt D. Whitley to the Commons without opposition. The vote of the county stands, Wilson 744, Hutchison 636, Whitley 730.

On the Convention Ordinance the vote stands in Mecklenburg, Anti-secession Ordinance Ratified 237. Anti-secession Ordinance Rejected 55—Anti-slavery Ratified 226, Anti-slavery Rejected 44.

The Western Democrat says:

Considering that probably no section of the State was more strongly opposed to Gov. Holden heretofore than this section, we think his present vote in Mecklenburg and surrounding counties a good one. Last year Mecklenburg gave Holden only 112 votes and Vance 1650—now Holden gets 353 and Worth 534! Last year Holden did not carry a county in this section—now he carries Cabarrus, Gaston, and (it is reported) Union, and loses Lincoln by only 14 votes. (We have no reliable news as to the vote for Governor in Union—only rumor.)

The vote for Governor as far as received is about as follows:

	Worth.	Holden.
Mecklenburg,	534	353
Forsyth,	1.110	68
Iredell,	721	349
Lincoln,	309	295
Gaston,	163	416

Wake,	153	1702
Warren,	525	46
Rowan,	570	341
Duplin,	462	161

Worth is ahead but we have not heard from any of the Holden Counties yet.—They will be almost unanimous for the Governor.

In Lincoln county, L. H. Lowrance is elected Sheriff, S. P. Sherrill Superior Court Clerk and a tie vote between Clark and Haynes for County Court Clerk.

LOCAL.

COL. CLINTON A. CILLY

We learn with much pleasure, that Col. Cilly, whom our readers will recollect as the very intelligent and accomplished Adjutant General, while the organization of the 2nd Division 23 Army Corps, continued, has been assigned to the chief command of the Freedmen's Bureau for the District of West North Carolina. Head Quarters, at this place.

Col. Cilly, possesses administrative talent of the highest order and we regard his selection as not only a justly merited compliment to him but also as fortunate for those having business with that Department.

MILITARY COMMISSION.

We learn that the trial of Mr. Baines, of Caswell, charged with murder has been concluded.—The decision has not yet transpired.

The prisoner was defended by Hon. J. T. Morehead, and Col. Morehead. We also learn that the Harris case will be tried next. The prisoners are defended by Maj. V. Barringer and W. H. Bailey, Esq.

PROPOSALS FOR CARRYING THE MAILS.

We publish below proposals for carrying the mails weekly to the County seats of this State, until the first of January next. We trust that persons who may be disposed to make proposals will do so at once, as mails are very much needed. We learn that ten dollars per mile will be allowed for this temporary service. The post offices on the various lines will be supplied, and it is desirable that postmasters be appointed at once. Proposals for any of these routes, and nominations for Postmasters, may be addressed to Gov Holden, to be forwarded by him to Washington. Persons who may propose to carry the mail must offer the necessary evidence that they will comply with their contracts; and nominations for Postmasters must be endorsed by loyal men, known to the Governor. Females may act as Postmasters, and there is no objection to appointing them.

The advertisement for the regular mail service in this State will appear soon.

We learn that the granting of this special temporary mail service is due to the indefatigable exertions of Dr. R. J. Powell, the State Agent in Washington, aided by W. S. Mason and W. J. Palmer, Esq's. of this city. We believe that no such favor has been extended to any other State.

Northerners Investing In Virginia Lands

Northern men are investing largely in Virginia lands, especially in the country between Washington and Richmond which has been devastated during four years by contending armies. Valuable farms, where an outlay for cash of fences and buildings is needed, are disposed of by their former owners at very low figures. Any man with national currency at his command can provide himself with a homestead in the Old Dominion quite as cheap as the same would cost in the far West. At Manassas Junction sixteen new buildings are in process of erection, a pretentious hotel among them. The majority of the new settlers in the Bull Run neighborhood are enterprising Yankees.

General Longstreet has taken private lodgings in Washington city, and is to remain there some time.

MARRIED:

In this County, on the 7th inst., by M. S. McKenzie, Esq. JOHN C. RODGERS, to MARGARET C. RODGERS.

$20 REWARD. Strayed or Stolen from the Subscriber, on the 8th November, a Chesnut Sorrel Mare, about 9 years old. Said mare, has a white face and the left hind foot has some white on it, and is about five feet nine inches high.

The above Reward, will be paid for her delivery to me at my residence, two miles south west of Gold Hill N. C.

To the People of the South!

THE OLD

"EXAMINER" REVIVED!!

The undersigned, having purchased its good will and subscription books, proposes to revive, at an early day, the old Richmond Examiner, of which the late John M. Daniel was editor-in-chief, and the undersigned his constant associate for the entire period of the war.

It is believed that the public will recognize an appropriate and practical idea in this enterprise.—Efforts to revive other papers in the South are announced, and it is certainly neither a visionary nor unworthy endeavour for the literary associates of a gallant spirit that now sleeps in the grave to essay honour to his memory and a service to the public by reviving the old Examiner newspaper, so long the ornament of Southern letters, an example at once of the scholarship and chivalry of Virginia; and perhaps the only school in the South of pure and classick English distinct from the models and redeemed from the innovations of Northern instructors.

The fame of the old Richmond Examiner reached to the most distant parts of the world. The paper was well known in Europe. It was pronounced by a distinguished Northern politician "the best exponent of the civilization of the South." It was a school of literary scholarship for the youth of the South; the glass of Southern chivalry; an example of independence, of courage, of iron spirit in newspaper literature, which its chief illustrated in his own noble and severe life, and defended more than once on the field of honor, when the undersigned stood with in the vindication of the freedom of the press.

Surely there are many people in the South who will unite in an effort to revive a newspaper which was an ornament to its literature and a school for its virtues. The task is an ambitious one. But the undersigned attempts it in no mean or flagging spirit. He has already undertaken to marshal a corps of the old writers for the Examiner; he will be able to reproduce its typographical features, and present to Southern readers a fac simile of their old acquaintance; and he fervently trusts and resolutely pledges every resource of intellect and will to breathe again in this form of material resurrection the same spirit of fearless criticism, chivalrous contest and unhesitating encounter with abuse that animated it of old.

The undersigned owns some pledges of affection in this enterprise. His relations with the late John M. Daniel was close, intimate and affectionate to the day of his death. And it will indeed be a labor and aspiration of love if he can produce some echo from the grave of lamented friendship and rekindle from the ashes of the past and the dead some of the fire that illuminated the familiar pages of our literature.

In the present uncertainty of political questions—the dissappointment of old issues and the imperfect development of the new—it would, of course, be impossible to state with precision the political career of the Examiner. But this may be said with safety; that it will use all its influence in restoring order, tranquility and prosperity to the people; and while aspiring to be brave and independent, it will avoid every schemes of faction and disorganization, devote itself to the works of conservatism, and sustain, at every risk, the present President of the United States as long as he fulfills those noble indications he has already given of planting again the rights of constitutional liberty in the South, setting his face against the Malignants of the North, and thus entitling himself to such common support of conservative men in all parts of the country as will secure the continuation of his wise and patriotic administration.

No pains or expense will be spared to make the Examiner the newspaper of the South. For every department of it the services of the most accomplished and active writers will be secured. Special correspondents will be posted in New York and Washington and other important centres of intelligence in the country. A former active editor of the old Examiner, Edward A. Pollard, will be employed as correspondent from Europe, in which country he proposes to write a History of the War, and to form a familiar acquaintance with the politics of Europe, especially in connection with American questions and topicks. This correspondence will constitute a special feature of interest in our paper; it will enliven its columns from week to week with the productions of an animated pen; and it will afford our readers a singularly good opportunity to make themselves acquainted with cotemporary Europe, and to apprehend the growing interest of our foreign relations.

The undersigned was recently the editor of the Richmond Times, but in consequence of a disagreement with the part proprietor of that paper, he has been forced to leave it and appeal to the civil courts for his rights; and he now proposes to himself the nobler task of reviving a paper endeared to the South by many memories of the past, and associated with so much that is admirable in its heroick and literary name in history. He calls upon the old subscribers of the Examiner, from Virginia to Texas, to rally to its support, to renew their subscriptions, and to assist in the revival of a paper which has existed for three quarters of a century, and which has ever been solicitous to honor truth and virtue, prompt to chastise abuses, and ambitious to defend and adorn the civilization and literature of the South.

Advertisements will be inserted on the same terms as published by the other Richmond papers.

The first number of the Examiner will contain a sketch of the life of the late John M. Daniel, whose name is historical in connection with the Virginia press, and than whom the annals of newspaper literature in America show few more extraordinary men—certainly no greater master of vigor and satire in composition. The first numbers will also contain a full and complete account of the evacuation of Richmond, with all the particulars of the surrender of the city, the entry of the troops, the great conflagration, &c., taken from the advance sheets of E. A. Polard's "Fourth Year of the War," now in press. This account will be found intensely interesting; and aside from this consideration, every one should secure and preserve these numbers, as they will be valuable hereafter as affording a true and faithful report of what the South has had hitherto but the imperfect narratives which have been written and published in the Northern press.

The old contributors and correspondents of the Examiner are particularly requested to communicate with the undersigned.

All letters and communications of every character should be addressed to

PROSPECTUS.

THE publication of the NORTH CAROLINA PRESBYTERIAN will be resumed in Fayetteville, on Wednesday 24 January next.

Confidently relying upon the hearty suport which we have heretofore received, we shall endeavor to render the paper more attractive, both in appearance and matter, than it has ever been, sparing neither pains nor expense, in the accomplishment of this purpose.

With the passing away of old things, a new spirit of activity, energy and enterprise has been infused into every department of secular thought and business. Why should not the CHURCH, also, partake of this progressive advancement? Why should she, of all the agencies, brought to bear with such tremendous force upon the civilization of the present time, be inefficient, laggard and almost hopeless, in the working out of her own destiny?

To arouse the CHURCH to the importance and necessity of WORK: of unceasing, restless, tireless energy in the service of her Master and Head; this shall be our first and chiefest aim. In this we need assistance. We are not alone, sufficient for these things. Our brethren must help us in every way; contributions from their own stores of thought and study; by zealous co operation in a common cause for the benefit of all; by extending our circulation throughout all our borders, and thus giving us both the means and the opportunity of performing well the work to which we have consecrated all that we have, and all that we hope for on the earth.

THE FARMER,

A MONTHLY JOURNAL,

DEVOTED TO AGRICULTURE, HORTICULTURE, THE AUXILIARY MECHANIC ARTS, AND TO HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY.

To be Published at Richmond, Va.

The undersigned propose to publish in this city—commencing in January, 1866—a monthly Journal to be styled "THE FARMER," whose pages shall be devoted to Agriculture, Horticulture, the auxiliary Mechanic Arts and to Household Economy. A Journal which shall faithfully and successfully represent these cardinal interests by the dissemination of practical information & thorough, sound instruction, will supply a desideratum which is widely and deeply felt in the present exigency of our affairs, and ought, therefore, (we should think) readily to commend itself to popular acceptation, and command, in return, a remunerating patronage. "Faithfully" and "successfully" to support these interests, requires a Journal of the highest order of its kind. It is to nothing short of this high standard of public usefulness that "The Farmer" aspires, and to reach and maintain it, will be an object of unremitting effort and unsparing liberality of expenditure. It seeks recognition as a worthy organ of these cardinal branches of national industry, of which it assumes the special advocacy, and hopes to meet the requirements of the position satisfactorily to those whose interests are more immediately involved.

We are fallen upon times of peculiar and unexampled difficulty. The sudden and violent overthrow of African slavery, without premonition of its near approach, or preparation for the event, interwoven, as it was, with the very texture of our social constitution, has rendered all past experience with respect to the economy and regulation of labor nugatory, razed to its foundation the entire system of Southern agriculture, and necessitated its re-construction and re organization in accordance with the recent changes in our circumstances and relations. Suddenly launched upon a tempestuous sea of danger and perplexity without the polar star of experience to guide us, we must, as best we can, improvise the measures which appear at the moment the best adapted to the purposes of present security, and as calmly as we may, await the slow progress of tentative effort and empirical practice for the development of facts and the matured fruits of experience and observation from the careful comparison and generalization of all which, sound principles may be deduced for our future guidance and direction. Then will a new creation of order, harmony and beauty spring out of the chaotic disorder and confusion which now prevail. Then will the desolation and ruin which mar the face of the country be repaired. And not till then shall wholesome and stable rules and regulations control the entire system of husbandry, with its adjuncts and subsidiaries, and give force and efficiency to the administrative measures necessary for the conduction of all its operations to the most satisfactory and profitable results.

To facilitate and promote these important considerations, a good agricultural journal is an obvious necessity. A medium of communication, for the interchange among farmers of views and opinions entertained by them respectively on subjects appertaining to their common calling, is indispensable, and they especially need a vehible of intelligence for the transmission of the earliest notice of improvement in any department of husbandry, that, by a wide diffusion of such notice, the improvements may be adopted in practice and thus prove a general benefit to the farming fraternity.

Now, to sum up in a word: It is to meet this obvious and pressing necessity that the proprietors propose to publish the above described paper, and in behalf of the undertaking they respectfully solicit the patronage of the public.

The best talent, both practical and theoretical which the country affords, will be commanded in aid of this enterprise, and no expense will be spared in the effort to make the Journal complete in all respects.

It will be printed on good paper and with clear type, and will comprise thirty two pages of reading matter. An advertising sheet of capacity sufficient to accommodate the advertising patronage of the Journal will be added.

Papers disposed to exchange with The Farmer will send their papers at once.

National Thanksgiving Day.

Proclamation by President Johnson.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God during the year which is now coming to an end, to relieve our beloved country from the fearful scourge of civil war, and to permit us to secure the blessings of peace, unity and harmany with a great enlargement of civil liberty: And Whereas our Heavenly Father has also during the present year graciously averted from us the calamities of foreign war, pestilence and famine, while our granaries are full of the fruits of an abundant season: And Whereas righteousness exalteth a nation, while sin is a reproach to any people:

Now, therefore, be it known, that I ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States, do hereby recommend to the people thereof that they do set apart and observe the first Thursday of December next as a day of National Thanksgiving—given to the Creator of the Universe for these deliverences and blessings. And I do further recommend, that on the occasion the whole people make confession of our national sins against His infinite goodness, and with one heart and one mind implore the Divine guidance in the ways of national virtue and holiness.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and six-

ONE OF JONCE HOOPER'S BEST.

Old Col. D——, of the Mobile District, was one of the most singular characters ever known in Alabama. He was testy and eccentric, but possessed many fine qualities, which were fully appreciated by the people of the district. Many of his freaks are fresh in the memory of the "old inns" of Mobile, and all of them will tell you that the colonel, though hard to beat, was once taken in by a couple of legal tyros. It is George Woodward, I believe, that tells the story, however that may be, is it in keeping with others related of the old gentleman.

It seems that Col. D—— had a misunderstanding with the gentlemen alluded to and was not on speaking terms with them, although all of the three were professedly riding the circuit together. The young ones, being well aware of the colonel's irascible nature, determined, as they left one of the towns for another, to have some sport at his expense by the way. They accordingly got about half an hour's start in leaving, and presently arrived at a broad, dark stream, that looked as if it might be a dozen feet deep, but which in reality was hardly more than as many inches. Crossing it, they lighted, pulling off their coats and boots, and sat down quietly to watch for the "old Tartar."

Jogging along, at length, up came the fellows. He looked first at the youngsters, who were gravely drawing on their boots and coats, as if they had just had a swim—and then he looked at the broad creek that rolled before him like a fluent translucent star. The colonel was awfully puzzled.

"Is this creek swimming?" he growled, after a pause of some moments.

No reply was made—the young men simply mounted their horses and rode off some little distance and stopped to watch our hero.

The Colonel slowly divested himself of boots, coats, pantaloons and drawers. These he neatly tied up in his handkerchief, and hung them on the horn of his saddle. Then he remounted, and as he was a fat, short man, with a paunch of inordinate size, rather inadequate legs, a face like a withered apple, and a brown wig, there is no doubt he made an interesting picture as he bestrode his steed, with the "breeze holding gentle dalliance" with his only garment.

Slowly and cautiously did the old gentleman and his horse take the creek. Half a length and the water was not fetlock deep. Here the horse stopped to drink. A length and a half—and the stream no deeper! Thirty feet further, and a decided shoaling!

Here Colonel D—— reigned up.

"There must," he said, "be a b—— of a swift deep channel between this and the bank. See how the water runs! We will dash through!"

A sharp lash made the horse spring the watery waste, and another carried the horse and rider safely to the opposite bank. The creek was no where more than a foot deep.

A wild yell from the young'uns announces their appreciation of the sport, as they galloped away.

"I'll catch you, you ——s cusses," was groaned between Col. D——'s teeth, and away he galloped in hot pursuit muttering vengeances on his foes.

On—on they sped pursuer and pursued. The youngsters laughed, yelled and screamed—the Colonel damned with mighty emphasis, while his shirt flattened and cracked in the wind, like a house flying jib.

On—on—and the pursuer reached the farm-house on the roadside. Their passing startled a flock of geese from the fence corner, which, as the Colonel dashed up, met him with outstretched wings, elongated necks and hisses dire. His horse swerved suddenly and the Colonel was upon the ground in a most unseemly "heap," with his brown wig by his side and his bundle of clothes scattered around!

The white-headed children of the house came out first, took a distant view of the monster, as it seemed to them, and then returned to report progress. After a little the father of the family came, and the affair being explained, assisted the colonel in making his toilet, the colonel cursing and the countrymen laughing all the while.

Dressed and somewhat, our hero started off with a vastly pale, and was soon out of sight.

The Watchman.

THE subscriber proposes to commence in the city of New York, at an early date, the publication of a weekly Journal, to take the highest practicable position on its line of Literature. Each number will contain eight large pages, with six columns to each page, printed on excellent paper in a superior style of photography, and so folded that it may be bound.

It will discuss all the current topics of Religion, Sociology, Science, Art, Politics, Commerce, Finance and Agriculture, liberally, carefully, thoroughly, and from a broad platform far above all partizanship. While the entire control of the work will be in the hands of the Editor, he hopes to have a circulation which will enable him to secure in its several departments the best aid which America and Europe can afford.

Faithful to his own Denomination, he trusts that he is so well known in all the Churches for liberality, that any publication of his may unhesitatingly be sent into the families of any Christian community. It may be the mission of this Journal to make all Christians see one another in a lovelier light. The subscriber has an earnest desir, and will make a hearty effort, to produce such a publication that where a family can take only one paper, this will more nearly supply all its wants than any other. A Home Gazette, a Repertory of all the best current Literature, a Summary of all important Intelligence in every department of Human Efforts, a Journal of Progress, an Advocate of Truth in all things, a Friend, a Guide, a Blessing—this is what "The Watchman" is intended to become.

The Editor has never been a partisan, and expects the discussion of politics in his journal to have to do mainly with its higher aspects and questions. The only desirable and permanent Union of States or of churches is a union upon the basis of an affectionate reception of a fundamental, political, or moral and religious truths with a hearty hatred of all certain error, and a generous absence of all fanaticism and strife in regard to what is not essential to political common weal or spiritual salvation. Into this happy unity the "Watchman" will labor to bring all within the reach of its influence.

This journal will afford a common meeting ground for Southern men of all views and thus keep our people in one portion of the South informed of the sentiments and views of those in other parts. It will present to other sections of the U. States a clear view of the animus of our people. It will thus secure the South justice and support without promoting sectionalism.

Many reasons unnecessary to state have led many influential persons to the belief that the interests of the South and of the whole country will be greatly promoted by issuing the publication from New York.

The price is put at $2 for the first six months, or $1 for the first three months. No subscription received for less than three, or more than six months. These terms allow one to subscribe for several copies for a short time, for general distribution. The first person who responded to a circular issued just before this prospectus, subscribed for 20 copies to districts No. 6 and 8 South. Write plainly the name, the post-office, and number of copies and the length of time, and address

General Orders, }
No. 3. }

Most of the misconduct of the troops in this District, has been occasioned by the use of intoxicating liquor. This liquor in most cases is procured from citizens.

The Col. Commanding the District is sincerely desirous of securing discipline among the troops, but it is well nigh impossible to do so, while the principal cause of the difficulty is furnished by the citizens themselves.

It is hereby directed that all persons, who shall sell, barter, or give away to any soldier, any intoxicating liquor of any kind whatsoever shall be arrested, and tried by a Provost Court, and on being found guilty shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both.

All officers, are strictly enjoined to use every exertion to ferret out and bring to punishment those who may violate this order, and all good citizens, are earnestly requested to aid in its execution.

COL. JASPER PACKARD.
